

Catarrh

May affect any portion of the body where the mucous membrane is found. But catarrh of the head is by far the most common, and the most liable to be neglected. It cannot be cured by local applications. Being a constitutional disease it requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, working through the blood, eradicates the impurity which causes and promotes the catarrh, and soon effects a permanent cure. At the same time Hood's Sarsaparilla builds up the whole system, and makes one feel renewed in strength and health. If you suffer from catarrh, be sure to try Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Ringing Noises
In my ears, and pains in the back of my head. The effort to clear my head in the morning by yawning and spitting was painful. Hood's Sarsaparilla gave me relief immediately, while in time I was entirely cured. I am never without the medicine in my house as I think it is worth its weight in gold." Mrs. G. B. Gibb, 1029 Eighth St., N. W., Washington, D. C.

AT INDIANAPOLIS.

Wild Enthusiasm at Harrison's Home.

THE HOOSIERS ARE JUBILANT.

The City Crowded With People, and the Joy of the Republicans Begs Description.

INDIANAPOLIS, November 8.—The weather is cloudy; threatening to be very muddy. The town has apparently broke loose now that General Harrison's election is beyond dispute. Pennsylvania Avenue is crowded for squares and thousands of horns are blowing. The din is abominable. One cannot hear nor speak. Around the New Denison Hotel the vacant quarters of the Republican State Committee, surges a crowd of 3,000 or 4,000, while the corridors of the Bright House are jammed. Along Washington and Illinois Streets are gathered large crowds, shouting and cheering for General Harrison.

The crowds are naturally of a hilarious and humorous disposition. It is therefore not to be presumed that any disrespect to the President was intended by the roars of laughter and cheers that are greeting a wagon now passing through the streets drag d by mules. Within a big coffin, on top of the coffin sit half a dozen mourners carrying huge bouquets in their hands, and as mourners trying with great lack of decorum, for every few moments their feelings overcome them to such an extent that they stand up and wave their bouquets, and then sit down and wave the mules away with brilliant bandannas. From the head of the coffin hangs a picture of President Cleveland. The eyes of the picture are very black, while below is the inscription, "They done me up very bad." As the funeral wagon passed along Pennsylvania Avenue it was greeted with storms of applause and the blowing of thousands of horns. In the crowds are many men wearing red roosters on their hats, but the bird is headless. Another device for amusing ratifiers is a pass headed: "Salt River Packet Line," pass, on account of British free trade, from Washington up Salt River. Steamer Lord Sackville-West will leave Washington March 4th, not good to return (signed) G. Cleveland, Captain. A. G. Thurman, mate.

The coupon of the campaign pass bears the names of such landings as Matsonville, Meyerstown, Jewettburg and Bynumborough. Thousands of the coupons of the election are circulating in the city. It is thought the citizens will voluntarily undertake a great ratification to-night, if it does not rain.

Probably no city in the Union ever witnessed such

EXTRAORDINARY AND OUTLANDISH SCENES of enthusiasm, chaotic, but good-natured, disorder as prevailed here this afternoon. Certainly, the citizens of Indianapolis never before saw such a sight. The demonstrations that occurred immediately following the news of General Harrison's nomination sink into insignificance compared with today's and to-night's scenes. Throughout the day, whenever the rain ceased falling, the distant boom of cannons echoed the enthusiasm of 10,000 Republicans. About 4 o'clock the rain which had been pouring steadily for five hours ceased, and in an incredibly short time the streets were again swarming

WITH YELLING, HOOTING, HORN-BLOWING, thousands marching back and forth utterly regardless of mud and water. Pennsylvania Avenue, in front of the postoffice, and around the new Denison Hotel, in one of the big stores of which is located the Republican headquarters, was so crowded that the muddy street was the pedestrians' only pathway. On both sides of the avenue, as far down as Washington Street, the howling, screaming crowd had full possession while the same condition of affairs prevailed on Washington Street for four squares, and also along Illinois Street for two squares, in the vicinity of the Bates House. All trains arriving in the city since early morning who were swallowed by the crowd and soon became imbued with the same spirit of enthusiasm which seemed to attack and possess everybody, even many Democrats. It was a regular carnival day. Probably the most unique features about the crowds was the way hats were marked with red and white chalk. On the backs of hundreds were the figures 544 (?) the number of votes. General Harrison received at Chicago. Others had 11,000 chalked on their backs, while every hat bore some letter or figure. In New Denison, along the street corners, were half a dozen professional chancers doing a land office business. Dandish young men would submit to have their garments artistically marked with all sorts of humorous characters. The device that afforded the throngs the most amusement was a miniature canoe four feet long, carried through the streets by four men; within the canoe sat a small chubby figure, bearing a striking resemblance to the late candidate, holding the oars. Picnards attached suggested a trip up the mythical Salt River, while a hundred men and boys followed singing, "Good bye, Oh, Grover, good bye." The celebration was of a most humorous and impromptu character, and certainly was not designed as a mark of disrespect to President Cleveland, as many southern readers of this account might otherwise suppose. The Associated Press correspondent stood several hours on the street

but did not hear a single expression of personal disrespect toward President Cleveland, and while the devices described were suggestive of a certain degree of proprietary toward the chief magistrate of our nation was maintained. This feeling will be more pronounced with the reader than with the spectator. The good humor of the crowds and the enthusiasm permeating the very atmosphere offer an explanation that distant readers cannot fully appreciate. As evening came on the factories and stores added their hundreds to the howling, screaming rabble. Between 7 and 8 o'clock the excitement had nearly gent, and not a few quarrels occurred. Most of the buildings were illuminated with Chinese lanterns. The noise of cannons, fire crackers and tin horns, which continued until after 9 o'clock, could be plainly heard as far out as General Harrison's residence. The General and his family, except for those distant echoes, are unconscious of the stirring scenes in the city. Except for a short walk yesterday and this morning, General Harrison has not left his residence since election day. Just before dark a trainload of enthusiastic men came in from Danville. They were mostly members of the First Lincoln League organized in the State, with flags flying, men pushing, singing and shouting.

DRUMS, TINHORN, ASS BANDS AND CANN N.

all uniting to make an indescribable noise as Harrison's residence was reached. As the crowds came into the yard, General Harrison ventured to look out of the south bay window. He was seen immediately, and the crowd broke for the window. By this time the spokesman of the delegation, Hon. John J. Hall, had been ushered into the library. He said all they wanted was to render their congratulations, and no speech would be asked, and the General accompanied him to the front steps. The people, after four years of search, whose loss had threatened the destruction of the whole government, and now the arch is perfect and the people are saved. General Harrison shook hands with those who insisted, and then bade them a pleasant "good night" and retired.

HAD FOUND THE KEYSTONE

General Harrison began to receive congratulatory telegrams from New York and the east as early as 9 o'clock on election night, when the first message returned indicated his probable election. From that moment to the present writing telegrams and letters of congratulation have poured in upon him from every city in the Union. His library table is piled with hundreds of these telegrams, there being fully 5,000. So long as there was resting upon the result of the election, General Harrison was not disposed to permit the publication of any congratulatory telegrams. The labor of assorting telegrams which continue to arrive was begun this evening. Among the congratulatory telegrams were those from Claiborne Quay, Hon. James G. Blaine, John Sherman, ex-Governor Alger, Chauncey M. Depew, Congressman McKinley, M. M. Eaton, John M. Thurston, Senator Frey, T. C. Platt, Senator Spooner, Hawley, Dawes, Stockbridge, Paddock, Manderson, Aldrich, Sabine, Congressman Burroughs, Branch, Bruce, A. P. Williams, of California, and many others. Mrs. Belya Lookwood offered the congratulations of the candidate of the Equal Rights Party. Senator Stanford, of California, telegraphed, "I congratulate you because you are the representative of the and in it you will find expression and support. I am, personally, greatly gratified because the Pacific Coast gives you in all three of the States larger majorities than ever before given to a successful Republican candidate." Senator Dolph, of Oregon, telegraphed congratulations, as did also Justice Harlan and Matthews, of the Supreme Court.

The Day After Election, Evidently.

To the Editor of THE HERALD.

Cromwell to the front, with its Ironsides Harrison, President of America. The American Eagle generally wants plenty of fresh air and liberty. These demands. It may have been kept indoors for a short time, but with its stern deliberate calmness, robes and sinews that enables it to soar in worlds to come, it will still live beyond all ages, and continue to do so for all time! The Republic of America, said by Plato to be a doubtful experiment, so far has proved a grand success.

Americans do not live in the swamps or jungles of India or Africa, or any other place. Perhaps they may have tried the experiment, but after doing so, much to their disgust, many have concluded to come back to their homes rather than to be subject to the aristocracy of foreign powers. As a nation, we fear none. Of course we will treat all kindly, and their representatives who come to our shores we will treat with the utmost respect; but they, one and all, must conform to our laws. It would be unfair and might be disadvantageous to ourselves as citizens. Other citizens, with their vast experience, in times of war spend large sums of money. Nations are soon lost and gone. We are not afraid of foreign powers or potentates.

The stars still shine, and when the destinies of nations are in the wane, the eagle of the American Republic will have her beautiful wings spread, soaring on high in the cloudless as well as in the stormy sky to protect her children, on the American continent.

IN RAILWAY CIRCLES.

A Utah Central Wreck--The Alta Tramway--General.

To-morrow is pay-day at the Utah Central.

The tramway running from Wasatch to Alta, on the D. & R. G., closed down last evening, so we were informed by Agent John W. King.

The Utah & Nevada is surrounding its depot grounds with rows of shade trees which will add considerably to the beauty of its already attractive grounds.

William Brown, the general agent of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific in this city, has been appointed to the additional position as general agent of the Chicago, Kansas & Nebraska road.

A PASSENGER on a train from New York the other day stepped from the overheated car to the platform and filled his lungs with the fresh, pure air. "ah," he exclaimed, "isn't this exhilarating?" "No," returned the laconic brakeman, "this is Berlin!"

Three box cars were badly wrecked near the Utah Central Depot on Wednesday night. It appears that an extra freight train was started from Ogden for Nephi, but when the train reached this city and was within a few hundred yards of the depot, an axle broke, causing three cars to be derailed and badly smashed. After considerable hard work, and a delay of many hours, the train was started for its southern destination. No one was injured.

MORRIS R. LOCKE, of El Paso, Texas, who is largely interested in the Kansas City, El Paso & Mexican Railway, and the Monterey & Mexican Gulf road, now in course of construction, who has been in Salt Lake for several days past, will probably leave this morning. While here, he made a tour over the several branches of the Salt Lake & Fort Douglas, and also over the Salt Lake & Eastern. He speaks in very flattering terms of Mr. Young's enterprise.

The United States Supreme Court has rendered another opinion affirming the right of a State to regulate railway charges. The Georgia Railroad Company denied the right of a State railroad commission to fix its rates, claiming that its charter allowed it to charge certain rates, but the court intimates that a company may charge fixed rates for all time, notwithstanding the changed condition of the contract--which seems to be another example of the tendency to treat contracts with railways differently from those with all other people.

HEER KOEHLER'S RECITAL.

A Delightful Private Musicales at Calder's Hall Yesterday.

Herr Koehler, the eminent young German pianist, who gives his first concert in this city at Calder's Hall this evening, gave a delightful recital to the Young Ladies' Musical Society and other ladies, and the members of the society yesterday afternoon. Nearly all who were invited took advantage of the opportunity to judge of the merits of the musician, and he is one that will greet the gentleman to-night will be the best proof of how greatly he was appreciated. Those who met Mr. Koehler found in him a pleasant gentleman and a thorough musician.

The first number given was Weber's "Polacca," and it would have been difficult to select a better piece to show the power and ability of the artist. The difficult fingerings, expression, and tone were all mastered in a style that called forth much admiration. Of the second selection, "Concertstück," by the same author, the same could be said. Then in striking contrast to the first two numbers, the gentleman gave Chopin's "Nocturne." It was so tender and sweet and so full of expression, that it caused a death-like stillness to fall upon the audience, and every note and tone was drunk in with the greatest delight and anticipation. Lastly came the familiar Tannhauser March, which was played with all the grandeur of which it was ever capable.

There were strong demands for more to the audience, but owing to an accident to one of the pedals of the piano, it was impossible to give any further selections; but, while the listeners were leaving their seats, they had heard enough to convince them of the excellence of the artist, and their appreciation.

IN THE COURTS.

A Little Escapade Nipped in the Bud.

Archie Douglas, the soldier who was fined $50 in the Police Court on Wednesday afternoon, turned out to be the guilty party in a little escapade of a very serious nature. The night before his arrest Douglas met a couple of little girls, one aged 11 and the other 12 years. The girls consented to walk with Douglas, and after he had bought them silk handkerchiefs and a number of little trinkets he treated them to oysters and then carried them to a saloon to secure a carriage to take the girls home. While Douglas was in the saloon, Marshal Solomon happened along and asked the little girls what they were doing out so late. Just then the gallant boy in blue stepped up and struck the Marshal in the face. He was promptly arrested and the girls were sent home to their parents.

The only case in the Police Court yesterday was that against John Wilson, who was fined $5 for being drunk.

PROBATE COURT.
